The ThermoSecure family grows

LUCEO will present its ThermoSecure range in the Packaging area at the CFIA show. Whereas in 2007 the French company located in Rennes received a price for its constant efforts in Research and Development, 2008 will be the year of the enrichment of the ThermoSecure range and its functionalities in response to the industrialists needs.

Institutional award in 2007

At the 10th edition of INPI Trophies in Brittany last 11 December, the National Institute awarded EDIXIA for its dynamic policy in innovation and industrial property. Indeed, about the quarter of EDIXIA employees devote themselves to Research and Development.

Opticians, mechanics, electronics, computer specialists rely on the continuous evolutions of their technologies to build equipment with complex architectures dedicated to the improvement of quality and the automation of the process in the automotive and food industries.

ThermoSecure grows

Resulting from the requirements of the persons in charge of conditioning during automation phase of the ends of lines, ThermoSecure L100 answers three recurring requests.

- High compactness: only one meter required between conditioning and encasing
- Flexibility: the inspection of a wide range of tray packs or flow packs: whatever the composition in transparent or opaque films, whatever their shape and height.
- High level of performance: the integration in the machine of the ejection of tray packs containing foreign particles from 0.5 mm² in seals and of transparent tray packs with fat or bubbles in seals hardly noticeable to the human eye.

Come and discover this new machine as well as the last modules integrated in the ThermoSecure range allowing to diagnose the performance of the line with follow-up of rates, to save images for each product batch and trace produced quantities.
